L A W S
AND REGULATIONS OF WIDOWS' FUND.

THE Faculty of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow, having at a Meeting held by them on the eighth day of June, 1792, adopted certain Rules and Regulations for raising a Fund of Provision for their Widows and Children, they, in terms of an Act of Parliament, passed in the 33d year of the reign of his late Majesty George III. called, “An Act for the Encouragement and Relief of Friendly Societies,” procured these Rules and Regulations, to be confirmed by His Majesty’s Justices of the Peace for the County of Lanark, on the eighteenth day of August, 1794. At a General Meeting of the said Faculty, called in terms of the said Act of Parliament, held on the fourth day of October, 1802, for considering certain alterations and amendments to the said Regulations, the Meeting did, in virtue of the powers contained in the said Act, expunge, rescind, and annul some of these Regulations, and enacted new ones in their place. The Regulations so altered, amended, and approved by the Faculty, were duly admitted, allowed, and confirmed by the Justices of the Peace, in terms of the said Act of Parliament, at Glasgow, the nineteenth day of October, 1802.

Preamble.

Since that period, the Faculty have judged it proper, at different times, to make various alterations and additions to the rules and provisions formerly established; and therefore, at a General Meeting, called in terms of the aforesaid Act, and held in their Hall here, the third day of April, 1820, they having carefully considered the same, did by virtue of the powers in said Act, alter and amend the said Regulations, and reduced them to their present form. In consequence of these alterations and additions, the said Faculty are desirous, that the Regulations, as they now stand approved by the Faculty, should be confirmed of new by His Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the County of Lanark; which Rules and Regulations are as follows, viz.

Regulations.

I. The free stock of the Fund, amounting, on the 15th of May, 1819, to £15,061 : 5 : 4, together with all the payments provided for in the following Rules, is chargeable with annuities to widows, and, where no widow is left, with a provision for children, according to two different rates: First rate annuity, Fifty Pounds; Second rate, Thirty-seven Pounds Ten Shillings. The provision to children, where there is no widow, shall be a sum equal to six years of the mother's annuity, respectively; that is, Three Hundred Pounds for the first rate, and Two Hundred and Twenty-five Pounds for the second rate.

II. These annuities shall be payable at the term of Whitsunday, immediately after the husband's death. If the husband die after the preceding Martinmass, the widow shall receive, on the fifteenth of May, one year's annuity ; if before Martinmass, one year's annuity and a half. The provision to children, to be paid the first Whitsunday after the father's death, in one sum, without any deduction on the score of interest.

Annual
tions.

III. A Member's title to be ranked on the first rate, shall depend on his continuing to pay, on or before the fifteenth of May, Two Pounds Five Shillings yearly, being Eleven Shillings and Threepence quarterly, commencing from the date of his entry. It is, however, expressly provided, that if this annual payment is not made at the term, a fine of the legal interest shall be chargeable for a full year ; if not paid at next term, a fine of the legal interest shall be chargeable for two years ; and, if it is allowed to remain unpaid for three years, then the Member shall lose the benefit of what he has already paid, and shall fall into the second rate, as if he had never been an annual Contributor, and shall never, on any pretence whatever, be replaced in his former situation.

IV. Every future Member of the Faculty shall pay into the fund two-thirds of his freedom fine, the remaining third being paid into the public fund of the Faculty ; and, if he inclines to become an annual Contributor, he shall declare his election the day of his entry, and shall have no right of change to an higher rate afterwards. An entrant selecting the first rate, if above twenty-five years of age, shall, besides the annual rate, commencing from the day of his entry, pay, along with his original contribution, a compensation for bygone rates, according to the following

tions and children shall make payment to the Trustees of a sum equal to the deficient rates, by deducting from the annuity of widows, or from the provision of children, a sum equal to the amount of the deficiency, provided that no more than Four Pounds Seven Shillings and Sixpence be deducted in one year from any widow.

Termination of Annuities.

VI. That all annuities shall cease, on the death or marriage of a widow, without any claim for arrears, as the payments are made in advance ; but the children of Contributors shall receive the reversion of their mother's annuities, that is, six years' annuity, respectively, after deducting what the mother has already received.

Certificates required.

VII. That, on the first day of March, or as soon as possible after the death of a Contributor, if he die after the first day of March, his widow shall produce to the Clerk of the Trustees, a certificate of her marriage, signed by a Minister and Elder of the established church, if she reside in Scotland ; if not, by the Judge Ordinary, or Justice of the Peace of the bounds ; and every year afterwards, on the twelfth day of May, a certificate of her being in life, and continuing the widow of the deceased Contributor, signed in the same manner; and every family of children, where there is no widow, shall produce, on the first day of March, or as soon as possible after the death of their father, a certificate, signed as above, of their being children born in lawful wedlock.

VIII. The annuities payable to the widows, and the provisions payable to the children of Contributors, as aforesaid, are hereby expressly declared to be purely alimentary, and shall not be liable to any diligence to be used by their creditors, but shall, notwithstanding such diligence, arrestment, or attachment, be paid to the widows themselves, or their order, or to the tutors and curators of the said child or children, or to their heirs, executors, or assignees; and if the child or children have no tutors or curators, then the provision to which they are entitled shall be paid to such person or persons as shall be named for receiving the same, by the Trustees for managing the fund, to be applied for behoof of such child or children, respectively.

income, (exclusive of entries, and aids from the Faculty Fund,) consisting of interest of stock, and rates paid by Contributors, shall not be equal to the demands upon it for that year, it shall be competent for the Trustees to deduct, from the children's provision first, and then from the annuities, such a sum as shall reduce the expenditure to the income, this deduction being again repaid, with interest, out of the surplus of next year, or of any year thereafter, when there shall be a surplus.

Meeting of
tors.

X. That the Members of the Faculty residing in Glasgow, shall be the sole managers of the Fund ; and that no business connected with the Fund shall be transacted, unless at a Meeting of Contributors expressly called, each Member being regularly warned to such Meeting, by billets left at his dwelling-house or shop, at least two days before. No new regulation shall be binding, unless proposed at a previous regular Meeting, and agreed to by three-fourths of the Members present at the Meeting, when it is enacted. It shall require two-thirds of the Members present at a regular Meeting, to admit any new Contributor ; but the lending or uplifting of money belonging to the Fund, may be determined by a simple majority of votes. The Preses of the Meeting, besides his deliberative vote, shall have a casting vote, when the matter cannot be decided by the votes of the Members, according to the regulations of this Article.

XI. That the Trustees for managing the Fund, shall consist of six Contributors, besides the Collector of the ordinary Fund of the Faculty, who shall be a Trustee, ex officio. Of these Trustees, four shall be a quorum, and they shall have full power to elect a Preses at every Meeting, who, as Preses, shall have a casting vote in cases of equality, besides his vote as Trustee. They shall hold two stated Meetings in each year, the first to be held on the second Tuesday of March, for making up a list of the widows that then come on the Fund for the first time, and of the children entitled to provisions at the Whitsunday thereafter, which list shall be open to the inspection of all the Contributors, in the hands of the Clerk to the Trustees. The second Meeting shall be held on the 14th day of May yearly, when, if no objections are made to any claimants on the Fund, the widows and children shall be entitled to draw their annuities and provisions accordingly. The Trustees may hold such occasional Meetings as circumstances may require, which the Preses of the preceding Meeting, either of himself or upon application of any two of their number, shall have power to call. The six following Contributors, Mr. William Couper, Dr. Robert Freer, Dr. Thomas Brown, Dr. John Nimmo, Dr. James Corkindale, and Dr. Alexander Panton, shall be Trustees, until the first Monday of July, one thousand eight hundred and twenty years. At that time, the two first of these Trustees shall go out of office, and two new ones shall be chosen by ballot, at the first regular Meeting in June preceding, to fill up their places, and so on yearly, the two eldest Trustees always going out in July, two new ones having been chosen at the June Meeting preceding, to fill up their places.

Trustees
may be re-elected.

XII. That, notwithstanding the above general rule, if a majority of the Faculty incline to continue any Trustee in office, they shall be at liberty to do so; which Trustee shall be considered as the youngest on the list, and shall continue in office during the same period as if he had been then elected for the first time. That, if a vacancy shall happen, by the death or demission of any of the Trustees, or by one of the Trustees becoming Collector of Faculty, or in any other manner, another shall, at next public Meeting, be elected in his place; it being always understood, that at least four of the Trustees shall be annual Contributors, and no election of a Trustee shall be made, but at a general Meeting of Contributors, called as in Article X.

XIII. That the Trustees shall choose from among their number, a Clerk and Collector, which offices may be held by the same person, to continue during the pleasure of the Trustees; and that the said Clerk and Collector shall be allowed to get regular books, the Clerk for recording the sederunts of the Trustees, and the Collector for showing a state of the Fund under his management; which books shall be always open to the inspection of all the Contributors: and the Collector shall have power to carry on all suits for the recovery of the funds, and shall subscribe all the receipts for the annual rates, and shall retain at the sight and direction of the Trustees, from the widows' annuities or from the children's provisions, such sums as shall be due by their respective husbands or fathers, which have not been, or cannot be recovered from them, upon assigning to such widow or children respectively such debt. That the Collector, on his admission to the office, shall take the oath de fidei, to be administered to him by the Preses of the Trustees, and shall grant bond, with a sufficient cautioner, not a Contributor, to the Trustees, to the extent of One Hundred Pounds sterling, for the faithful discharge of his trust; and that the Collector shall exhibit to the Contributors, at the General Meeting, to be held on the first Monday of July yearly, a state of the funds under his management, and an account of the sums received by him for the preceding year, and the application of the same, and shall furnish every Contributor with a printed copy thereof; which Meeting shall have full power to audit and pass the said accounts, and discharge him and his surety of the same.

Location of Fixed Capital.

XIV. That the foresaid stock, and all additions to be made to it, shall be lent out by the Trustees, on the best securities they shall be able to procure, and at as high a rate of interest as possible; they having obtained the concurrence of a Meeting of the Contributors, called as in Article X. for that purpose; and that the bonds and securities for the same, be taken payable to the said Trustees, or any four of them, and to their successors in office; and the said Trustees for the time, or any four of them, shall have power to uplift, assign, and discharge the said bonds, and other securities, and to sue out all manner of execution necessary, for receiving payment thereof, or concerning the same; but expressly providing, that such stock, or any additions to be made to it, above the sum of One Hundred Pounds sterling, shall not be uplifted or again lent out, except as in the following Article, without the concurrence of a Meeting of Contributors, called as in Article X.; and that no part of the stock shall be lent to any Contributor, except on unquestionable heritable security.

XV. That a cash account be opened with one of the Glasgow Banks, in name of the Trustees, to which account the Collector shall pay all sums of money received by him; that the money so deposited, shall be uplifted only by drafts, signed by two Trustees, along with the Collector. The Bank account shall be settled annually, at the time the Collector closes his transactions for the year, which settlement shall be examined by the Trustees, when they audit and pass the annual account, and their doquet shall expressly bear that the whole balance is lodged in the Bank, in name of the Trustees for next year; and it shall be competent for any Contributor, at the Public Meeting in July, to call for an inspection of the Bank account; and no excuse on the part of the Collector, shall be held sufficient for not producing it.

Expense of Management.

XVI. The public Fund of the Faculty shall be at the expense of the management of the Fund, such sums being allowed to the Clerk and Collector, at the General Meeting in July, as may have been expended in said management.
